EDWARD VII, ENGLAND'S NEW KING.

The Kind of Man Who Comes to the Throne of Great Britain After Many Years of Waiting --- His Gracious and Noble Queen, Alexandra --- Some Facts About the New Heir Apparent.

EDWARD VII.

Edward VII, the new king of England and emperor of India, is in his sixtieth year. He is well preserved, of average height, of portly build, florid as to complexion and of an even, placid temperament.

In the shadow of the throne he has lived an almost uneventful life. While waiting for the scepter and royal robes he has had little chance to show what kindly nature was in him.

The world knows him only as a jolly prince who has done nothing very good nor any great evil. Perhaps the most notable feature of his life thus far has been his fondness for sports. He has raced horses, sailed yachts, shot birds, played cards and gambled more or less, with more or less discretion.

He might have come to the throne as Albert I, starting a new line of kings, but many years ago he was announced that when he ascended the throne he would use his second name, Edward, and he was known as King Edward VII in preference to King Albert I. The English people have always looked forward to him as King Edward VII.

His eldest son, the Duke of York, who becomes the Prince of Wales by the father's accession to the throne, has also an Edward in his long list of names, and his eldest son, who will be king of England some day, if he lives, has also an Edward in his name. It has been argued that by calling himself Edward VII the new king could revive the line of kingly Edwards, and in time they would exceed in number the Henrys who have sat upon the English throne.

It was long the fond hope of Victoria's heart that her son should reign under the title of Albert, the name of his father, her beloved husband. But Albert is a strange name to English ears in the list of royal titles. The prince himself desired to be called Edward. The queen's ministers and the queen's subjects desired it, so at last the mother, so fond of her own way in everything, saw that it was better to yield, and she is reported to have shed tears over it.

It was on the morning of the 9th of November, 1841, that an anxious group of personages waited in the great room of Buckingham palace. They were dignitaries of church and state who had been summoned in accordance with royal etiquette to be present at the arrival of a possible heir to the throne of England. They gathered together in the anteroom close by the queen's bed chamber. Among them were archbishops and bishops, arrayed in silk shawl hats and gorgeous aprons; members of the cabinet, headed by the prime minister; nurses and doctors by the score.

For hours this motley assemblage awaited the event. Their patience was rewarded.

"Is it a boy?" anxiously asked the Duke of Wellington of the nurse.

"It is a prince, your grace," answered the woman, with unfeigned dignity.

When it was announced that the hopes and wishes of a nation had been fulfilled and that a boy had been born, there was universal gratulation. Prelates and statesmen embraced one another with uncontrolled effusiveness. Cannon from the grounds without thundered the news to all the surrounding districts. Thousands of church bells took up the glad tidings and pealed out the announcement to an expectant nation. Early in the morning the privy council met in state to ordain prayer and thanksgiving from one end of the country to the other.

A few weeks later, on the occasion of the prince's baptism in the Royal chapel of Windsor, he was shown from the balcony to a huge crowd of persons.

THE NEW PRINCE OF WALES.

markable land which claims with us a common ancestry and in whose extraordinary progress every Englishman feels a common interest.

In 1802, accompanied by Dean Stanley, he made a journey to the east, including a visit to Jerusalem. The young prince was now of a marriageable age. Speculation was rife as to who would be the lady of his choice. The question was settled in the early part of 1863, when his engagement was announced to Princess Alexandra, the eldest daughter of the king of Denmark. She was three years younger than the prince and, though comparatively poor, was beautiful and accomplished. The marriage was celebrated in St. George's chapel, Windsor castle, on March 10, 1863.

All England rejoiced over the event. Tennyson, who had just been made poet laureate, wrote one of his fine poems, "A Welcome to Alexandra," on this occasion. The princess soon made herself very popular with all classes of the British public, not only by her outward grace of manner, but also by her virtues and amiability. The prince himself has always shared in this popularity, although at a younger age, and his potential subjects have often been shocked by stories of his dissipation.

As a social factor in England the prince has always been supreme. Ward McAllister called him "the great social dictator." It was largely through his influence that many Americans—a nation whom he has always liked—have received their entrance into the inner circles of the British aristocracy. Nevertheless the social and fashionable side of his life has been more of a duty than a pleasure to him. He has always been most content when surrounded by a circle of his friends at his palace, in Sandringham, a small village in the county of Norfolk. There he has lived the life of an English country gentleman.

The affection and esteem in which the prince is held by his subjects were better exemplified than in December, 1871, when he was attacked by typhoid fever and for some weeks hung between life and death. The anxiety of the public was intense, and the news of his recovery was greeted with great joy. On his first appearance in public to take part in the memorable "thanksgiving service" in St. Paul's cathedral on Feb. 27, 1872, the streets along the line of his route were crowded with a cheering multitude.

Since then the prince has been putting in several years of quiet work, taking a great deal of responsibility that attaches to sovereignty of his mother's hands. He visited India and Ireland, engaged in solidifying the empire. He started intercolonial and international exhibitions. He encouraged and liberally subscribed to public charities. He has been a liberal patron of art and of the drama. It is impossible to overstate his power as a social factor. He has dictated fashions and dominated manners. On him fell the full responsibility of the arrangements for the celebration of his mother's jubilee in 1887. He was a great success.

It is impossible not to mention two notable things of recent years—the baronet scandal and the death of the prince's eldest son and his heir, the Duke of Clarence. The baronet scandal came in the summer of 1890, while the prince was visiting Mrs. Arthur Wilson at Tranby Croft. Sir William Gordon-Cumming, a cavalry officer of good family, was charged with cohabitation. It was said that he increased his salary from £1,000 to £1,500 a year in his favor. It was a famous trial; the prince was a witness, and Sir William Gordon-Cumming lost. He married the daughter of an American millionaire, Miss Cameron of New York, and retired into private life.

Two years later the Duke of Clarence fell a victim to the grip. It was a great blow to both the prince and princess, a bereavement from which they have never recovered. After the funeral the prince retired to the deepest privacy. It was many months before he could take up his public duties.

Of late years Marlborough House has become the center of the prince's social and official life. His study, where none but his intimates are admitted, looks like the room of a hardworking man of business. He works at an old-fashioned pedestal desk table. The desk shuts with a spring and can be opened only with a golden key, which the prince carries on his watch chain. Every hour of his day is mapped out for him. First comes his private correspondence, which is very large. From 10 till 11 each morning is spent in talking over and dictating replies to letters that have been sorted over by his secretary. The remainder of his day is governed by his appointment book. The social feature of it is very large. When the prince does have an idle hour, he enjoys a new novel that he has picked from the bookstall himself. No political party has ever been able to rightly claim the Prince of Wales as an adherent, or even as an active sympathizer. He has always managed to keep conspicuously clear of party or sectional interests and still remain an aggressive Englishman.

In 1893 the late king of Sweden initiated Albert Edward into the mysteries of Freemasonry. His father had refused to associate himself with the craft, but the prince had, and of his own. In 1875 he was elected grand master of England. At one Freemason dinner, when the prince presided, the list of subscriptions reached the enormous sum of £250,000, the largest amount ever raised at a festival dinner in the history of the world.

Americans know the new king as a game sportsman. He began that career early. When he was only 15 years old, accompanying his father on deer stalking expeditions, he was the best shot in his family. In manhood the royal colors—purple, gold band, scarlet sleeves and black velvet cap with gold fringe—have been a familiar sight on all British race courses of the first class. His name has often stood high in the list of winning owners. He is generally agreed to be a capital judge of a horse. His greatest triumph was the winning of the Derby by Persimmon in 1894.

During the past few years King Edward VII has seldom been seen following the hounds, but in the game season he is foremost in big shooting parties. As a yachtsman he has been particularly fortunate. He is the owner of many splendid yachts.

While no one can confidently say what political changes the advent of the new king will make—and it is possible that his rule may materially affect the course of British politics—it is known that he has always had liberal leanings. He detested Beaconsfield; he felt a warm admiration for Gladstone. His most intimate friend among the leading politicians of England is Rosebery. It is already predicted that the new king will work for Rosebery for the premiership.

As for the new queen of England, she is a daughter of the north who at 55 is still beautiful. She is a splendid type of woman and was Princess Alexandra of Denmark prior to her marriage to the Prince of Wales 38 years ago.

A very pretty and romantic story is told of how the Princess of Denmark became the wife of Prince Albert Edward of Wales. The prince chanced to be whiling away part of a long summer afternoon with two or three congenial friends when one of them, a colonel, produced from his pocket a photograph.

The prince immediately became struck by the beauty and simplicity of the young person in the picture and was very short time he had dispatched a confidential emissary to Denmark to carry his suit to the princess. The emissary was struck by the simplicity of the royal personages, but more attracted by the grandeur and beauty of the young princess. Because of her simple home training the princess was best fitted for the pomp and honor of her station. She is a brilliant woman, strictly domestic, of commanding presence and stature.

Her character is at once strong and sweet, and she shows a kindly consideration for all who approach her. As a mother she is ideal. Her children were reared and educated as befits their station, and their discipline is a matter of comment in England. She is a thoroughly practical woman, fond of the best literature and an accomplished musician.

An intimate friend of the Princess of Wales—for only an intimate friend can be pardoned in so describing her—says that she is "sweet, noble, pretty, snappy, arrogant and disagreeable." Her temper is quick, disagreeable and uncertain. Yet, withal, this friend adds that she is "just the most lovable woman in the world."

Queen Victoria during her long reign has shown herself to be more than a woman. Her conduct in time of trouble has been calm and serene, and in time of peace she has displayed the stolidity so admired by Englishmen.

They have reared and educated as befits their station, and their discipline is a matter of comment in England. She is a thoroughly practical woman, fond of the best literature and an accomplished musician.

The strongest feature displayed by the new queen of England is her clique. No one ever knew Victoria to have an intimate friend. Even Mrs. Albal was kept at length, but Queen Alexandra has her friends and falls out with them in a woman's way.

At one time she loved Lady Brooke, but her love cooled; at another she and Lady Randolph Churchill were inseparable—one never shopped without the other—but at a later date she took Lady Craven instead and insisted that she become one of her intimates of honor.

It is not in temperament that the new queen differs from her predecessor, but in every other respect. For years Alexandra has been hated for her taste in dress. She has never made Queen Victoria's Alexandra is not a woman who only one of Queen Victoria's daughters-in-law who has ever been able to rightly claim the Prince of Wales as an adherent, or even as an active sympathizer. He has always managed to keep conspicuously clear of party or sectional interests and still remain an aggressive Englishman.

ALEXANDRA, THE NEW QUEEN.

MR. AND MRS. KINSEY, OF ELK, MICHIGAN.

Mrs. Margaret Kinsey, Elk, Genesee county, Mich., writes to Dr. Hartman, as follows: "I am well and think I will need no more medicine. I feel so well, and all my old complaints are gone, which were many. I often did not know which way to turn. No one knew what I suffered. For forty-nine years I suffered but now I am cured, for which I thank Dr. Hartman for his advice and good treatment. I keep Peruna in the house all the time and shall never be without it. 'My husband had a cough for nine years. He took Peruna and it helped him. He looks quite young. He works hard every day and is getting fat. He takes Peruna three times a day. You don't know how thankful I feel toward you; I never think of you but to thank you and will do all I can for you.'"

Congressman J. H. Bankhead, of Alabama, one of the most influential members of the House of Representatives, writes in a letter from Washington, D. C., gives his endorsement to the great catarrh remedy, Peruna, in the following words: "Your Peruna is one of the best medicines I have ever tried, and no family should be without your remarkable remedy. As a tonic and a catarrh cure I know of nothing better."

There is but a single medicine which is a radical specific for catarrh. It is Peruna, which has stood a half century test. It has cured thousands of cases of catarrh. Ninety times in a hundred, those who have been cured of catarrh by Peruna thought they had some other disease. The remedy to cure catarrh must be able to reach the mucous membranes, and this is exactly what Peruna does. Peruna operates at the fountain head. Peruna produces normal, clean and vigorous mucous membranes. Catarrh cannot remain in the system if Peruna is used according to directions. indications the Democratic Convention which is to be held Monday in March, will be held after the plan patterned after the great Northern Convention.

Shelby M. Cullum has been elected to the Illinois legislature. This is indeed a defeat for the great Northern Convention.

important day in the party's history in the county.

Let each and every candidate, with his friends, contest every inch of ground, get out every voter and see that he votes, and when evening comes, the day's work is ended and the vote is summed up, let peace and brotherly love reign supreme.

It is an evident fact that a number of candidates are to be defeated, while only a few can have their longings gratified.

This was known to all in the beginning, and we trust that those defeated will gracefully accept it and join in the fight against the common enemy.

Republicans, we appeal to you to be guarded to-morrow. Select the men whom you think will make the strongest and best race, then give them your earnest support and influence.

This is true Republicanism—this kind that will lead the party to victory in November. No candidate should be so unthoughtful as to allow his Democratic neighbors to gull him into saying harsh things about his opponent, for if he does his audience will indeed be small.

A man that talks about his successful opponent in an unkind manner, is not a Republican, for Republicanism is willing submission to the will of the majority.

These thoughts are kindly submitted to the aspirants for office, in the hope that they consider them well and may find good food for the mind to reflect upon.

The prayer of THE REPUBLICAN is, that nothing but peace and brotherly love will reign supreme in the Republican ranks after the primary whoever the nominees may be.

Their battles will be in common with THE REPUBLICAN. In every battle that is to be fought during the fall campaign, for each and every candidate, THE REPUBLICAN will be found in the front ranks.

We have enlisted to continue in active service until Goebelin is buried or the close of the war.

Contract For 200 Cars.

It is said on good authority that the Southern Car Works, located at Binghampton, have closed a contract with the Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad Company for the construction of 200 freight cars. The cost of the cars will aggregate about $180,000. This is one of the biggest contracts secured by the car works from any Memphisian.

This statement was made yesterday to President Forsick and Secretary Tower, of the business men's club, by a railroad official, who is in a position to speak authoritatively, and there is no reason for doubting the statement.

He said simply that the Choctaw had given the local plant an order for 200 cars which would cost the company $180,000, and that the contract was made with the positive condition that the cars be built here in Memphis.

"This shows more than any other act, the friendliness of the Choctaw to Memphis," said Mr. Forsick yesterday afternoon while discussing the deal. Memphis ought certainly to appreciate this spirit of generosity and kindly interest in her industrial welfare.

"In order that the merchants and business people may have an opportunity of showing their appreciation a meeting of the business men's club will be held next Tuesday night, at which time suitable resolutions will be adopted commending the Choctaw road for its loyalty to Memphis and her manufacturing interests.

This meeting will not only be for the members of the club, but for every citizen of the city, who feels a pride in the city, and an interest in the material developments of manufacturing plants.

It will be an open meeting, and everybody is expected to attend and speak their sentiments.

This meeting will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening. While it will be held under the auspices of the business men's club, as Mr. Forsick explained, it will be for every body, and its purpose will be to indicate the true feeling of the Memphis people toward the Choctaw road and their appreciation of such substantial efforts on the part of that road to favor a Memphis concern.

"Hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they had failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

be asked to inquire as to Youtsey's sanity. A number of experts have been summoned to testify as to the cause and effect of the nervous prostration experienced by Youtsey during the trial last fall and if the motion for the jury be sustained much interesting testimony will be adduced.

It is hardly possible that either John Davis, Harlan Whittaker or Richard Combs will be tried at the February term, as the Youtsey matter will consume too much of the term to permit another trial to be had.

Danger of Colds and La Grippe.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken, all danger is avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Forewarned, Forearmed.

The liability to disease is greatly lessened when the blood is in good condition, and the circulation healthy and vigorous. For then all refuse matter is promptly carried out of the system; otherwise it would rapidly accumulate—fermentation would take place, the blood become polluted and the constitution so weakened that a simple malady might result seriously.

A healthy, active circulation means good digestion and strong, healthy nerves.

As a blood purifier and tonic S. S. S. has no equal. It is the safest and best remedy for old people and children because it contains no minerals, but is made exclusively of roots and herbs.

No other remedy so thoroughly and effectually cleanses the blood of impurities. It builds up the weak and debilitated, and renovates the entire system. It cures permanently all manner of blood and skin troubles.

SSS

Mr. E. E. Kelly, of Urbana, O., writes: "I had Eruptions on my hands and face for five years. It would break out in little white pustules, crusts would form and drop off, leaving the skin red and inflamed. The doctors did me no good. I used all the medical preparations and salves without benefit. S. S. S. cured me, and my skin is as clear and smooth as any one's."

Mrs. Henry Siegfried, of Cape May, N. J., says that seventy-one bottles of S. S. S. cured her of Cancer of the breast. Doctors and friends thought her case hopeless.

Richard T. Gardner, Florence, S. C., suffered for years with Boils. Two bottles of S. S. S. put his blood in good condition and the Boils disappeared.

MAYDOLE'S HAMMER

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master)
When Maydole was told that he had made a "pretty good hammer," he said, "I don't make a 'pretty good hammer,' I make the best hammer that ever was made."
Every carpenter who saw a Maydole's hammer wanted one. It was of the best material, perfectly balanced, and the head never flew off. Hammers were divided into two classes—1st, Maydole's; 2d, all the rest.
Plasters are separated by the same line of cleavage; 1st, Benson's Plaster; 2d, all the rest. When, for rheumatic pain, a cold, a cough, kidney trouble or any other disease or ailment that may be treated externally, you ask for a plaster, any honest, reputable druggist will give you a Benson's. He knows it is incomparably the best, and he assumes that you know it too. As the name of Maydole stood for hammers the "real thing." All the medicinal potencies that are valuable in a plaster are in Benson's. Capsicum, Strengthening and Belladonna plasters are out of date.
An army of physicians and druggists, and millions of the people, have written of Benson's Plaster as a remedy to be trusted. Benson's Plaster has fifty-five highest awards. Accept no substitute.
For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States, on receipt of 25c. each.

Dr. Caperton was in Hartford last year and delivered some excellent sermons. Although he was very frail in body his mind was clear and one could readily see that in his day of activity he was a power in the pulpit.

Aged 110.

COVINGTON, KY., Jan. 29.—Mrs. Rosa McArdie died in St. Elizabeth's Hospital to day. She was born in County Mead, Ireland, in 1791, and has lived in three centuries. Without a doubt, she was the oldest person living in Northern Kentucky, and her age is authenticated by the records in the Parish church of her erst while home in Ireland. Mrs. McArdie was at one time quite wealthy, but through the betrayal by supposed friends of trusts imposed in them, nearly all her earthly possessions were swept away.

In Memory.
On Jan. 20, 1901, just after mid-day, Blanche Ray, the little three year old daughter of Mr. J. Allen and Lena Anderson, fell asleep in the arms of Jesus, her spirit fled to realms of immortal glory where there is no sickness, sorrow or pain, but all eternal peace. She was sick only a short while with scarlet fever, when God called her home. Blanche was a smart child. She was the idol of fond parents. My heart was never sadder when the news came, that Blanche was cold in death. Sad it is indeed to part with a dear little niece, I knew her, only to love her. She was to precious for earthly friends and loved ones, so God sent best in his infinite wisdom to remove her from earth. No more her childish laughter will be heard, within the walls of that old home, but her voice can be heard among the angels singing in heaven above.

Dear brother and sister let us not weep, like those who have no hope, but trust in God. He will heal our broken and bleeding hearts and let us never forget that we, too, have a tie in heaven, sitting around the throne of God, beckoning us homeward while the cold and silent tomb contains her body, her spirit reigns above. She is not dead, but sleepeth. After funeral services by Rev. J. C. Petrie, her remains were laid to rest in the Oakwood cemetery to await the resurrection morn.

Dearest Alice thou hast left us,
And the loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God who hath bereft us,
He alone our sorrows can heal.
Oh how we'll miss Blanche here on earth;
Her little feet we'll hear no more,
She was full of laughter and mirth,
But is now sleeping on the other shore.
Dear mama how you'll miss her,
None on earth can ever tell,
While you'll never more see her,
Remember, she has gone to heaven to dwell.
She is only waiting there for you,
Upon that golden shore,
Where parting is unknown,
And weeping is no more.
Weep not for her dear papa,
She is his gone before,
To await the resurrection morn,
And meet you upon the other shore.
And could she speak to you,
As you would have her do,
She'd only say weep not for me,
For I am with the angels now.
Gone, no more you'll see Blanche Ray,
Throughout your daily life,
Oh how you'll miss her in your play,
With your toys and daily strife.
And when you're tempted to do wrong,
As you will oft times be,
May you ever think of Blanche,
And let her life be one eternal song.
For she is singing around the throne,
Her angel voice can only say,
Papa, mama and sister weep no more.

The Making of Good Coffee

Begins in the growing. Anywhere between the plantation and the coffee pot the flavor may be changed, the quality spoiled by carelessness, inexperience, or unscrupulous methods. From the time Arbuckles' Coffee leaves the hands of the grower until it reaches the user in a sealed packet, it is handled with the same watchful care, the same thought for cleanliness, that you would give any article of food that goes on your table. That's the reason it costs the grocer a cent a pound more than its cheap imitations. The extra cent you pay for buys much more than a cent's worth of quality and strength. A pound of Arbuckles' Coffee will give you more cups of better coffee than you would get from other package coffees.

Be sure you get Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee. Other package coffees are but imitations of Arbuckles'. In each pound package of Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee there is a list of articles in which the List is found. The purchaser has bought a definite part of some article to be selected by him or her from the list, subject only to the condition that the signature on the package is to be cut out and returned to our Notion Dept. You should see this List. Address all communications to

ARBUCKLE BROS.
Notion Department, NEW YORK CITY, N.Y.

For Malaria, Chills and Fever

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.
